W. Fawkener.

Extract of a Letter from Colonel Sir James Murray, Bart. Adjutant-General to the Forces under the Command of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, to Mr. Secretary Dundas, dated Tournay, May 10, 1793.

IN consequence of the Movements of the Enemy, which gave Reason to expect an Attack upon the Austrian and Prussian Posts, His Royal Highness determined to march in the Morning of the 8th to their Support. He arrived about Six o'Clock at the Camp of Maulde with the Brigade of Guards, and a Battalion of the 10th Regiment of Hanoverian Infantry. The Prussian General was by this Means enabled to reinforce himself, at St. Amand and the adjoining Wood, with the Troops which had occupied that important Position.

The Attack commenced about Seven o'Clock. It was directed against the Posts occupied by General Clairfait, which extend from the Scheldt to the Abbaye de Vicogne, and the Prussian Corps which defends the Wood in the Front of the high Road, leading from that Place to St. Amand.

To these Points were directed the whole Efforts of the French Army, which had been previously reinforced by all they could bring together from every Quarter. General Knobelsdorf, having been under the Necessity of sending a considerable Part of his Troops to support the Austrians at the Abbaye de Vicogne, His Royal Highness, about Five o'Clock, left Two Battalions in the Camp at Maulde, and marched with the Coldstream, the Flank Battalion, and that of the Third

Third Regiment, to his Support. When the Battalion of the Coldſtream, which was upon the Left, arrived, the Enemy had nearly reached the Road; they already commanded it, to a great Degree, by their Fire: The Guns attached to the Battalion were placed upon it, and, by a well directed and well ſupported Fire, kept the Battery which was oppoſed to them in Check, and did conſiderable Execution.

The Battalion advanced into the Wood, attacked and drove the Enemy before them: In going forward they became unfortunately expoſed to the Fire of a Battery, from which they ſuffered ſeverely. They fell back to their Poſition at the Edge of the Wood, which they maintained for the Reſt of the Day, notwithſtanding a heavy Cannonade; the Enemy made no Attempt to approach them. Nothing can exceed the Spirit and Bravery diſplayed by the Men and Officers of the Battalion upon this Occaſion; nor is leſs Praiſe due to the Alacrity and Intrepidity with which the other Battalions advanced into Action. They took different Poſitions in the Wood, where they were at Times expoſed to a ſevere Cannonade, from which, however, they received little Injury, the Direction of the Fire being in general above them. There were ſeen this Morning between 40 and 50 of the French lying dead upon the Spot upon which the Fire of the Coldſtream and of it's Guns had been directed. Major-General Lake commanded the Battalions which went into Action; and His Royal Highneſs declared that he was much indebted to him for his Exertions.

The Importance of the Service rendered by His Majeſty's Troops upon this Day has been acknowledged, in the ſtrongeſt and moſt explicit Terms, by the Generals of the different Armies; and if by their timely Co-operation the Enemy were prevented from advancing upon the high Road, it cannot be doubted that they contributed, in a very great Degree, to ſecure the Fortune of the Day.

At the Abbaye de Vicogne and the Village of Raimes the Action continued, with almoſt equal and unremitting Violence, till Eight o'Clock in the Evening: General Clairfait was every where ſucceſsful in maintaining his Ground; the Enemy, however, though baffled and defeated in their Purpoſe, remained in the Woods within a very ſmall Diſtance of his Poſts. During the Action they cannonaded the Pruſſian Camp near St. Amand.—I am not exactly informed what Meaſures they took in order to keep the Prince of Cobourg in Check, but it appears that nothing of Moment paſſed in that Quarter.

Upon the following Day, the 9th, there was little Firing, and it was not known what might be the Intention of the Enemy. His Royal Highneſs thought it therefore proper to let the Troops remain till the Evening at St. Amand and Maulde: Every thing being quiet, and Intelligence having been received that the Troops oppoſed to General Knobelſdorff were retreating, they began their March for Tournay, but he was ſtopped at the Village of Maulde by a Meſſage from General Clairfait, informing him that the Enemy had erected Batteries all along his Front, as well as upon ſome Part of General Knobelſdorff's, which, if they were allowed to compleat and to poſſeſs, it would become extremely difficult for him to maintain his Poſition. His Royal Highneſs immediately ſtopped the March of the Troops, and went himſelf to St. Amand, where he was met by General Clairfait and General Knobelſdorff. It was agreed that the Auſtrians and Pruſſians ſhould aſſault the Whole of the Batteries at Day-break, whilſt His Royal Highneſs retained Poſſeſſion of the Camp of Maulde.

This was done accordingly, and had the deſired Succeſs. The Enemy had withdrawn their Cannon in the Night; but they were entirely driven from the Batteries, ſeveral killed, and upwards of 100 Priſoners taken, with a very inconſiderable Loſs. Thus defeated upon every Occaſion, the Enemy ſeem to have entirely abandoned their Deſign: The Body, which came from Liſle, has fallen back upon Orchies. There was Firing To-day at one of General Clairfait's Poſts, but nothing which had the Appearance of a ſerious Attack. By the Account of Deſerters and Priſoners, they loſt 4,000 Men upon the 8th.—General Dampiere is ſaid to have received a Wound, of which he is ſince dead.

The Troops arrived this Evening in their former Quarters.

The Auſtrians had upwards of 500 killed and wounded, and the Pruſſians 300, on the 8th.
